Dear Students of OSTIMTECH Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences,

In line with the Council of Higher Education decision No. E.12552 of 17.02.2023, due to the earthquake/s that occurred on February 6th, 2023 and directly affected 11 provinces, educational practices of 2022-2023 Spring Semester in our faculty will be as follows:

- Classes will be online (synchronous/asynchronous) at the Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences until a new decision is issued by YÖK (Council of Higher Education).
- Classes will start on February 27th, 2023.
- Course registrations will be between February 22-24, 2023.
- Students who want to suspend (freeze) their registration for the spring semester shall apply to the Department/Faculty secretariat by March 10th, 2023 with a petition declaring their status. In that case, their registration will be suspended and this period will not be added to the maximum education period of the program. However, when deciding to do so, it should be kept in mind that there are no “irregular” students at our university. It is critical to consider this in order to avoid any loss of rights in the subsequent process.

Dear Students of OSTIMTECH Faculty of Economics and Administrative Sciences,

- Upon application to the faculty secretariat, the unpaid spring semester tuition fees of our students whose first-degree relatives died or their first-degree relatives' residences were destroyed or damaged in the provinces covered by the State of Emergency (OHAL) as well as the suspension fees of those students who want to suspend (freeze) their registration will be postponed until the fall semester.
- Among the students who can document that they are earthquake victims, those who could not attend the 2022-2023 Fall Semester exams on February 6th, 2023 and after, will take those exams on a later date.
- In accordance with Article 12(2) of Principles and Procedures of the Council of Higher Education Regarding Distance Education in Higher Education Institutions* which stipulates that “It is essential that midterm exams, final exams and make-up exams are held face-to-face under supervision”, all exams at our University should be conducted face-to-face. However, another announcement will be made on how the exams will be conducted after the decision to be issued by YÖK in April 2023.
